Have you heard
about a movie
called "her" ?

When I saw the movie poster, I thought it was about gender identity.

It's a sci-fi
romance about
a man who falls in love with his operating system.

A friend introduced me to a podcast called "Seth Godin's Startup School."

It made me think about the difference between being a freelancer & an entrepreneur.

Me
too!

(I'm still listening to it.)

The idea that entrepreneurs set up SYSTEMS that continue to work without them was exciting for me. I want to do that!

I want to set up systems
to earn money for me,
then I can focus on doing work I love.

I have a lot of ideas.

The problem is:
how to set up
a system with that idea.

I like what
James Victore said:
"I want all my work
to be love notes."

I think I have a cold or something.

I'm trying to eat
healthier & give up coffee.

I want to go
up there.
