I overheard some German

imagined
spaghetti

Shooting Custard

OMG, IT'S

ICE CREAM!

DISCLAIMER: I'M PRETTY SURE I'M LACTOSE INTOLERANT... -WHICH MEANS NOTHING BECAUSE I USUALLY MUCH EAT WHAT I WANT ANYWAY. HOWEVER, I DON'T REALLY EAT ICE CREAM. I LIKE THE IDEA OF ICE CREAM, AND IT'S OK, I'M JUST NOT CRAZY ABOUT IT.

If I was going to eat ice cream, these are the flavors I'd be interested in:

PURPLE LEAN

Dark purple, has Jolly Ranchers mixed in and basically tastes like cough syrup and vodka. Served only in a styrofoam cup and only available in Houston.

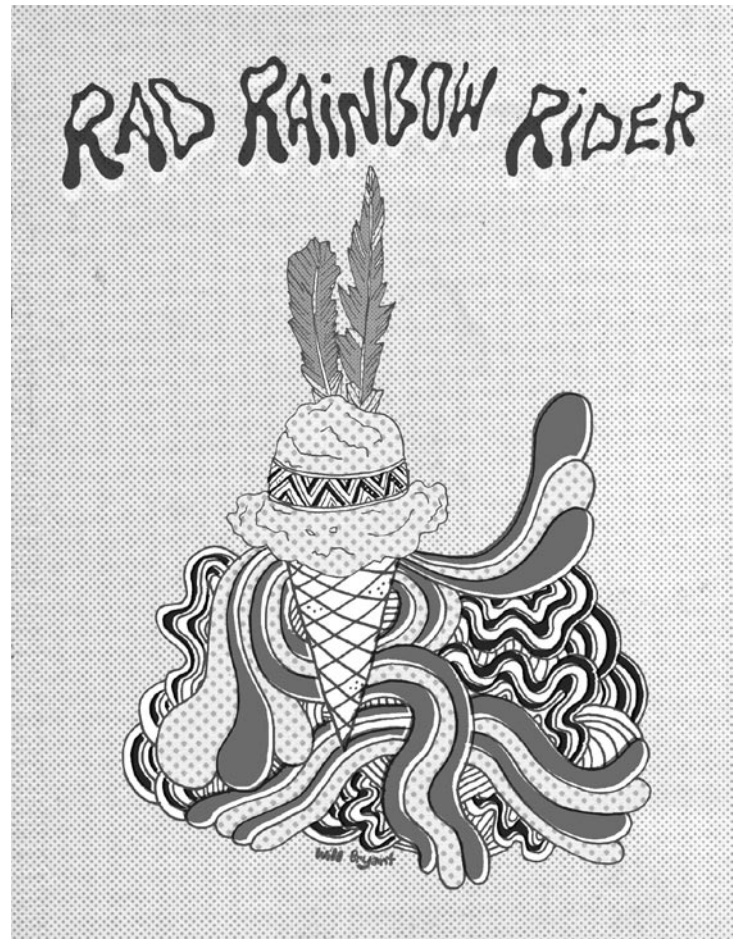

RAD-A-LICIOUS!

Orange and tastes like Sour Patch Kids, but better. You can't buy it in any store- you can only get it at ice cream shops. They just scoop it into your hand because a cone or cup would ruin it. You have to eat it out of your hand and make sour faces the whole time.

RUNNERS UP: AWESOME-BERRY, CONUNDRUM CRUNCH!
NEVER EVER: CHICKEN-FLAVORED

WEED- CHOCOLATE

i'm delicious!
and i wanna get you high ;)

After i created my favourite ice-cream flavour, i google it because i thought it would probably exist somewhere in California. And it does!
How cool is that?!

I love telling embarrassing stories about myself. But there is one that I never tell. In junior-high there were three boys that prank phone called me. The call went something like this:

Now, I like Ice Cream and I've always been super competitive, so I started listing flavors. It's hard to say what it is that I hate most about this story. That I was so gullible? That 3 boys that I hated thought of a clever trick to play on me? Or maybe that I only thought of about 3 flavors before I completely blanked.
